

CSO Group offers powerful and effective independent managed security services that provide value to customers where we can see it is needed most.

Organisations are increasingly finding it difficult to build a team of experienced and yet affordable in-house cyber experts. The Global Cyber Skills shortage has meant that customers are struggling to attract and maintain cyber resources. This is particularly challenging when it comes to security operations, as the effectiveness of any technology control is in how it is managed operationally, and the quality of the subject matter experts assigned.

Our Managed Cyber Assurance Service (M-CAS) allows organisations to augment and strengthen their internal capability with highly specialised and certified engineering expertise; going deep in command of the tools to deliver continuous and effective management in highly contextual ways.

Unlike many 'managed-services' in the market that provide reactive support models, M-CAS is a complete managed service that provides proactive and ongoing operations, with our team co-designing and executing on key business metrics to help you deliver business outcomes. This proactive approach to managed security means that we're constantly evaluating business risk and reporting on the changing information and cyber security landscape to ensure constant optimisation; an investment that delivers true ongoing business value.

In conjunction with our Professional Services, we offer a complete design-to-operations journey delivering industry leading security solutions to protect, detect and respond to global cyber threats across:

SECURITY TECHNOLOGY MANAGEMENT	THREAT DETECTION	VULNERABILITY MANAGEMENT	DATA PROTECTION	SECURITY ASSURANCE

Combined with our Governance, Risk and Compliance services and Consulting and Advisory services, M-CAS enables true cyber assurance through the integration of these services, the carefully chosen industry-leading technologies we implement and our team of highly experienced experts.

CSO Group's Cyber Assurance Service provides a highly effective and advanced managed security service that allows you to confidently outsource critical security technology management, security operations and threat detection activities to a highly experienced support team, freeing your internal team to focus on key projects and initiatives to advance your business.
